

Where audio visual and IT facilities come together in boardrooms, meeting rooms, lecture theatres or conference suites, there's more to consider than just the presentation system.

With over forty years experience and industry leadership, Saville takes pride in designing and creating total communication solutions, blending the latest in digital display technologies with the finest bespoke furniture craftsmanship.

The current financial climate may limit the options for companies planning to furnish or refurbish a boardroom or conference facility, but that's where Saville can surprise you.

Talk to us about bespoke boardroom tables designed and built for the audio visual age. We'll improve your comfort and communications, please your accountants and transform the style and effectiveness of your meetings.
